

ONE-TO-ONE RESEARCH MENTORSHIP

Build the academic depth universities look for.

Individually designed programmes for students aged 14 to 18, mentored by researchers at Harvard, Oxford, NYU and Columbia.

Our programmes

Online, for students aged 14 to 18, scheduled in local time around the school day. Mentors are matched to each student's field, from a network that includes researchers at Harvard, Oxford, Cambridge, New York University, Columbia, Georgetown and Vanderbilt.

Research Scholar

$6,500

ONE-TO-ONE • 8 WEEKS OR LONGER

At least eight 60-minute sessions with a doctoral or postdoctoral researcher in the student's field, from a reading path and project plan written before the first session. A longer programme spaces the sessions out, leaving more time for reading and writing.

The work. A student-authored essay, literature review or brief, typically 3,000 to 5,000 words. Completed work can be submitted to The Aldevere Review, which publishes it only if it meets the editorial standard.

Field Seminars

$4,500

ONE TO THREE STUDENTS • 8 TO 10 SESSIONS

A university-style seminar course in one field, led by a researcher or specialist who works in it and written in full before it starts: a syllabus, an assessment brief, a research toolkit and a reading bank. Usually one or two sessions a week.

The work. A research essay or project, marked against published criteria, then a research conversation after marking.

Each fee covers the design work before the first session, every session, written feedback, an academic adviser alongside the mentor, parent updates, and a written report and recommendation at the end. There are no paid add-ons.

Academic Essentials

FROM $2,000
CUSTOM PLAN

ONE TO THREE STUDENTS • A CUSTOM PLAN

For students who need stronger foundations first. Starts with the Academic Readiness Review, which sets a written plan around what the student needs: academic writing, English for university study and admissions tests (including IELTS, TOEFL and SAT), source use and citation, or research-question foundations.

Fees are confirmed in writing after the interview, before any payment is requested. The Academic Essentials fee follows the plan the review sets.

Affiliations describe individual mentors and do not imply institutional endorsement.

What every Aldevere programme includes

01 Designed before it begins

Every programme is written for the student before the first session: a syllabus, assessment brief and reading bank for a Field Seminar, a reading path and project plan for Research Scholar, and a written plan from the Academic Readiness Review for Academic Essentials.

02 A mentor for the question

Students are matched to a mentor whose work fits their question. If no one in our network fits, we recruit someone who does.

03 An academic adviser alongside the mentor

Every student also has an academic adviser, separate from the mentor, who looks after their progress and wellbeing from start to finish.

04 Parents kept informed

Parents receive the schedule before the first session, progress updates at set points and whenever they ask, and a debrief at the end.

05 A new mentor if the match is not working

If the match is not working, we change the mentor.

06 A written report at the end

Every programme ends with a written report on the student's work, covering strengths, next steps and evidence of growth, and a recommendation for what comes next.

WHO STUDENTS WORK WITH

AI security and large language models

Postdoctoral Associate

New York University Abu Dhabi

Biomedical engineering

Doctoral Researcher

Brigham and Women's Hospital, Harvard Medical School

History

DPhil Candidate

University of Oxford, Merton College

Islamic studies and Arabic literature

PhD Candidate

Harvard University

Examples from the mentor network. Affiliations describe individual mentors and do not imply institutional endorsement.

The student writes every word.
Mentors question, teach and give feedback.

Every mentor is reviewed and briefed on safeguarding before working with a student, and a parent may observe a session by arrangement (in a group, with the other families' agreement). Our safeguarding, academic integrity, generative AI and complaints policies are published at aldevere.com.

HOW TO BEGIN

Begin with an interview.

The student attends, and parents are welcome to join. The interview is free, with no obligation on either side.

I Apply

At aldevere.com/apply. Book your interview as soon as you apply.

II The interview

We recommend the programme that fits the student, or say so if none does yet.

III In writing

You receive the recommended programme, its schedule and the fee in writing, so you decide with the full picture in front of you.

IV The first session

Payment confirms the place, and the mentor match is confirmed in writing before the first session. Programmes start each month.

We built Aldevere for students who want their work to speak for them.

Scan to apply

aldevere.com/apply

